2023 JOURNEY BOOKLET

A WORLD UNTO ITSELF

Strait Experience recognises the Traditional Owners of the land on which we operate. We acknowledge the past and present elders of all Torres Strait Islander and Aboriginal people in the Torres Strait and Northern Peninsula Area and respect the culture and lore of all Torres Strait Islander and Aboriginal people in the region.

Welcome to STRAIT EXPERIENCE

On behalf of the entire Strait Experience team we would like to take this opportunity to welcome you to the Torres Strait. Where natural beauty, culture and hospitality meet.

As Torres Strait locals we are the first to admit that the region is a world unto itself. Distance, culture and geography combine to make tourism accessibility particularly difficult; yet intrepid travellers who venture here will be rewarded with a glimpse into a fascinating culture, stunning landscapes and a slice of history.

Strait Experience is as much a movement as it is a locally operated and indigenous-lead Destination Management Company and Travel Agency. We have proudly built an ecommerce business which amplifies Torres Strait operators into a bigger and more sustainable domestic tourism markets.

With our operations on Thursday Island, we provide extraordinary in-region support and advice. From an industry perspective, Strait Experience is a starting point for businesses and individual who want to access the region but don't know what's available, how much it will cost, what's the schedule and what makes each island unique.

Unlike existing tourism operators in the region, we don't operate our own tours and therefore have complete impartiality and neutrality in our advice and recommendations. We also create tailored packages from our tour operators and accommodation providers which are expertly curated to exemplify Ailan Kastom (Island Custom).

Good Pasin Fund

DEEDS NOT WORDS

We respectfully obtained a blessing from Traditional Owners to operate our packages. Beyond this blessing to operate, Strait Experience, has established a Community Fund, called the 'Good Pasin Community Fund' which commits 5% of in-bound package costs to the Local Native Title Prescribed Body Corporate of where the Package operates. On top of the fund, a stand-alone Welcome to Country payment is provided on every package. These commitments form a significant financial injection to a diverse amount of community.

We also recognise that any tourism must be respectful of Ailan Kastom (Island Custom) and maintain community safety and cultural preservation as paramount factors. We continue to work with Traditional Owner groups via a two-way engagement process which develops a sustainable tourism model which considers the implementation of practical and real-world steps.

Discover AUSTRALIA'S TORRES STRAIT

From the northern tip of Cape York to Papua New Guinea, almost 300 islands dot the ocean like steppingstones. Very few are inhabited – and only a handful permit visitors – but intrepid travellers who venture to Australia's northernmost outpost will be rewarded with a glimpse into a fascinating culture, stunning landscapes and a slice of history. Journey to this culturally unique part of Australia and you will find vibrant Indigenous communities celebrating their strong connection to land and sea since time in memoriam.

Strait Experience is a proudly Torres Strait owned business – our trust with community, lived experience in the region and stakeholder network has enabled us to 'unlock' the regions tourism potential with an unmatched level of accessibility. Strait Experience continually works to engage small-scale indigenous operators to build their business and their profile to provide a high-quality list of products, services, experiences, tours and accommodation options for every type of traveller.

ABOUT THE TORRES STRAIT

The term 'Torres Strait Islander' is used to describe people who come from the islands of the Torres Strait – a section of ocean that stretches from the tip of the Cape York Peninsula in Queensland across to Papua New Guinea. There are almost 300 islands in the Torres Strait, but only 17 of those are populated. Between 8000 and 10000 years ago, there was a land bridge between Australia and New Guinea that allowed ancient peoples to travel south from Asia and settle. Rising sea levels at the end of the last ice age flooded the area, leaving only the highest peaks above water. These peaks became the islands we know today.

The Torres Strait is divided into five major island clusters:

- Top Western Group (Boigu, Dauan and Saibai),
- Near Western Group (Badu, Mabuiag and Moa),
- Central Group (Yam, Warraber, Coconut and Masig),
- Eastern Group (Murray, Darnley and Stephen);
- Inner Island Group (Thursday, Horn, Hammond, Prince of Wales and Friday).

The Northern Penninsula Area (NPA) of Cape York Peninsula is often included which includes 3 aboriginal communities (Injinoo, Umagico and New Mapoon) and 2 Torres Strait Islander communities (Bamaga and Seisia).

Three major dialects are spoken in the Torres Strait; Kala Kawa Ya (Top Western and Western), Kala Lagau Ya (Central) and Meriam (Eastern) predominate with the 'Creole' language that emerged after the arrival of the missionaries. The Torres Strait is the body of water between Australia and Papua New Guinea where the Pacific and Indian Oceans meet and where there are 133 islands, sandy cays and rocky outcrops of which 38 are inhabited. The population of the Torres Strait at the last Census (2011) totalled 7490 people.

The fishery of the Torres Strait with the exception of trochus shell continues today and Waibene (Thursday Island) exemplifies the multiculturalism of the Torres Strait where people of many races and nationalities live and work harmoniously.

As the only part of Australia with an active international border and where the neighbouring country is visible from the shoreline, the Torres Strait has gained a strategic focus from Commonwealth and State governments. The issues of customs, quarantine, immigration and defence are administered daily from Waibene within a treaty that also maintains traditional cultural and trade ties between Papua New Guinea and the people of the Torres Strait

Cultural Protocol

Strait Experience is committed to providing services to the region that respects the unique qualities of both Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander culture which are found inside the region. We recognise that understanding culture is a stepping-stone to understanding context. As you can appreciate it would be impossible to try and explain all the protocols of a culture which has existed since time immemorial. Yet below we tried to highlight some key points which can often be a starting point for misunderstandings or unintended offence. This will also be a better experience for you as a traveller.

1 DAY STRAIT DAY

Stop 1 | HORN ISLAND – Military History & Museum

Your Strait Day starts with a spectacular scenic flight on a private charter. Taking off from Cairns your compass heads north, crossing over the Great Barrier Reef and vast wilderness area that is Queensland’s Cape York Peninsula. Leaving the mainland behind, our touch down point in the Torres Strait is Horn (Ngurupai) Island, which has a fusion of Melanesian, Torres Strait and Australian Aboriginal cultures. This island has a rich cultural, mining and military history, which will be revealed to you on a 2 hour Horn Island tour.

Horn Island Tour

The Torres Strait was a critical Allied Forces stronghold during the war. Hundreds of local men enlisted to defend their country - in fact, at Horn Island, only 10 able-bodied men remained to protect their community and to this day, the Torres Strait Light Infantry Battalion, is the only Indigenous battalion in Australia’s military history.

During this tour you’ll walk in their steps, visiting gun emplacements, slit trenches, underground rooms and more. Stop in at the Torres Strait Heritage Museum on Horn Island to gain further insights – here you can read diaries and historic newspapers, see maps and learn more about the area’s rich wartime history, local myths and legends and more.

The adventure continues when you catch a local ferry to Thursday Island. Slicing through the impossibly turquoise water, keep watch for fish, turtles and dugongs which thrive in this tropical paradise.

Stop 2 | THURSDAY ISLAND – Cultural Centre, Performances & History

Thursday (Waiben) Island is the administrative hub for the Torres Strait and home to the Island Stars experience found directly opposite Bayo Beach on Main Street. This is a locally run business representing a contemporary art gallery and keeping place for cultural artefacts. It’s also the space where you’ll engage with traditional Ailan Kastom (Island Custom) through art and dance, during a local feasting-style lunch buffet. A respected Torres Strait Islander dance group will showcase their vibrant culture with a 1-hour performance, in traditional ceremonial dress and adornments. Their movements are powerful and represent years of practice. Their Dhari headdresses are intricate and beautiful, like nothing you’ve ever seen before.

This expands your growing awareness of the rich tapestry of art, dance, rituals and performance that keeps language and traditional knowledge alive, in the Torres Strait. Meet celebrated visual artists and admire their incredibly detailed lino prints, which illustrate various aspects of island life, legends and custom. Artworks are available for sale and apart from supporting the local community and culture, these works make a striking, contemporary addition to any décor, serving as a visual reminder of your time in the Torres Strait.

Thursday Island Tour

Traverse more of the cultural tapestry, military history, religious and commercial activity that is island life, on a 2 hour Thursday Island tour. A comfortable air-conditioned coach takes you around the island, visiting key points of interest, which your local guide will illuminate through an interesting and informative commentary.

Highlights include Green Hill Fort and the historic Thursday Island cemetery. Positioned on the hill, Green Hill Fort is an ideal place to get some truly unique photographs, with a stunning backdrop of blue seas and islands. The Fort was constructed in the late 1800s to help protect Australia from a possible Russian invasion. The gun emplacements are still in place, but the canons have been disarmed. In the underground rooms beneath, there’s an extensive array of military artefacts, uniforms and more.

THE TIP IN A DAY

Stop 1 | BAMAGA – Culture & Military History

Short on time, but not going to compromise on experience? Tip In A Day is for you. Launching from Cairns on a private charter you'll fly over the Great Barrier Reef and remote wilderness area that is Cape York Peninsula. From the air, you can appreciate this vast tract of largely unpopulated land. Our destination is the Northern Peninsula Area (NPA) which is home to both Torres Strait and Australian Aboriginal people and cultures. We touch down at Bamaga, which is one of two NPA Torres Strait communities and will visit the other one, Seisia and of course - journey to Pajinka (The Tip).

Bamaga – A Saibai Island Community

Bamaga is the largest of the five NPA communities and is the administrative hub for the area. It's named after its founder from the Torres Strait island of Saibai, Bamaga Ginou. It has a permanent population of around 1,000 people and with its airport, it provides an important transport link between this northern outpost and the rest of the country.

Bamaga Airport was originally built during World War II. There are two plane wrecks here from that era, including a DC3 that crashed into trees on approach, killing 6 passengers. We'll visit the wreck to pay our respects and remember how vital the top end of Australia was, as a part of the Allied defense.

Stop 2 | SEISIA – A Coastal Saibai Island Community

Seisia is a very scenic waterfront community, with golden beaches, coconut trees and a busy jetty, providing the launching point for many day trips to the Torres Strait. Seisia is where you connect with culture. Share a local feasting style lunch, as a respected Torres Strait Islander dance group showcase their vibrant culture, with a 1-hour performance in traditional ceremonial dress and adornments. Their movements are powerful and precise. Their Dhari headdresses are intricate and beautiful, like nothing you've ever seen before.

You'll also meet accomplished local artists, who will talk on their work and inspiration. Artworks are available for sale and apart from supporting the local community and culture, these works make a striking, contemporary addition to any décor, serving as a visual reminder of your time at the Tip of Australia.

Stop 3 | PAJINKA – The Tip, Australia's Most Northern Point.

Pajinka awaits. Your guide will take you over the rocky headlands to Pajinka, also known as 'The Tip', where you can stand with the sign and get that bucket list photo. The seas, breeze, beaches and views to the Torres Strait beyond are remarkable, combining to make this a place you will remember forever. A 2 hour guided tour of Pajinka and all that surrounds it, is included in the Tip In A Day experience.

As well as Pajinka, you'll also visit Somerset, or what is left of what was once planned to be the Singapore of Australia. In 1864 construction of Somerset commenced and when completed, it had a magistrate's house, hospital, barracks, police quarter's, armoury and customs house. The first magistrate was John Jardine – the Jardine family played a significant role in the early European days on the Cape – sadly, it was poorly positioned and eventually the Somerset settlement was abandoned.

We'll stop at the legendary Croc Tent, provides the opportunity to purchase some merchandise to remember your trip to the Tip.

Every aspect of your visit is tailored to elevate your knowledge and illuminate your mind with traditional practices, continued to this very day with vibrant cultural purpose and practicalities. Come to a new world you've never seen, in Queensland's far north.

CORAL CAYS & CULTURE

DAY 1: Horn Island to Masig Island

All the best adventures start with a scenic flight. Climb aboard a Skytrans Cessna 208B Grand Caravan at Horn Island and take to the sky, flying high over the tropical archipelago that is the Torres Strait, on a 40 minute flight to Masig Island. Friendly local guides are waiting to greet you to their island home. An official Welcome to Country by a Masig Island Traditional Owner takes place at the Council Offices, which is where you check-in to community, before checking into your accommodation at Lowatta Lodge.

Today you'll learn all about the history and people of Masig Island. A place which has played a central position in the Strait's trading networks, for hundreds and thousands of years. Its people are renowned as skilled navigators, possessing detailed knowledge of the reefs and cycles of the sea. These stories are shared in a relaxed and informal information session.

DAY 2: Cultural Connection

Slide into island life and make some cultural connections, that's what day 2 on Masig Island is all about. After breakfast at the Lodge, you'll leave to meet a selected community representative, who will show you how to make Coconut Oil. Coconuts have long been an important part of island life, providing water, food and materials for weaving. This is an engaging way to immerse in tradition.

There's free time to relax before lunch. Your journey of discovery continues in the early afternoon with locals sharing more on traditional Torres Strait Islander life, as well as the impacts of the pearl and trochus shell industry, missionaries and European settlement in the islands.

As the afternoon breezes blow across Masig Island, you'll be shown traditional hunting techniques and have the opportunity to make your own decorative spear. Sunset Beach is the place for a simply stunning sunset, and as the last golden rays disappear beneath the sea, it's time for a local-inspired feast accompanied by a display of Traditional Island dancing and singing.

DAY 3: Island Time > Before Heading Back to Horn Island

After breakfast, there's two options available for your enjoyment. Firstly, you may like to kick back and relax. Stroll down to the beach and just enjoy the serenity of this island paradise. Or if you're feeling more adventurous, and the tides are right, there's the opportunity to take a guided walk to Kodall Island. Kodall sits very close to Masig - and the two cays are like sandy teardrops in the sea, sometimes separated by water, but united again at low tide (pending the season).

Lunch is at Lowatta Lodge, before you farewell Masig Island and catch a Skytrans flight back to Horn Islandforever. A 2 hour guided tour of Pajinka and all that surrounds it, is included in the Tip In A Day experience.

As well as Pajinka, you'll also visit Somerset, or what is left of what was once planned to be the Singapore of Australia. In 1864 construction of Somerset commenced and when completed, it had a magistrate's house, hospital, barracks, police quarter's, armoury and customs house. The first magistrate was John Jardine - the Jardine family played a significant role in the early European days on the Cape - sadly, it was poorly positioned and eventually the Somerset settlement was abandoned.

Launching from Cairns, you'll take to the sky for a seriously scenic flight to Horn Island, flying over the Great Barrier Reef and wilderness area of Cape York Peninsula, going beyond Australia's mainland to the tropical archipelago that is the Torres Strait. Your island home for this 3 day / 2 night adventure is Waiben Island, also known as Thursday Island.

THURSDAY (WAIBEN) ISLAND, YOUR ISLAND HOME

Thursday (Waiben) Island is part of the Inner Islands of the Torres Strait. A place where the people are strongly connected to the land, the sea and celebrate their rich culture and traditions. An interesting fact is that Thursday Island is on Aboriginal Country (not Torres Strait Country). You will learn more about this on the Thursday Island tour, where your local guide points out historically and culturally important landmarks to the Kaurareg Nation people, who are the identified Aboriginal Traditional Owners.

Today, Thursday Island is the administrative hub of the Torres Straits, and has a permanent population of over 2,500 people, which fluctuates with the arrival and departure of residents from the surrounding islands, visiting for supplies. It's a place to engage with people and culture, enrich with experiences and leave with memories of dancing, pearls and our fiercely and proudly defended northern frontier.

HORN ISLAND – Military History & Museum

Horn (Ngurupai) Island has a rich cultural, mining and military history. It's located just 17 kilometres off Queensland's coastline, and its people are descendants of all who came before. A fusion of Melanesian, Torres Strait and Australian Aboriginal cultures. This tropical island hosted a gold rush in the late 1800s, and at one time had 27 mines, including a 30 feet deep, open cut mine.

In the 1940s, this area became an invaluable and strategic Allied Forces stronghold during the war. Most Torres Strait men enlisted to defend their country - in fact, at Horn Island, only 10 able-bodied men remained to protect their community. To this very day, the Torres Strait Light Infantry Battalion, is the only Indigenous battalion in Australia's military history.

2 Hour Horn Island Tour

The Torres Strait people proudly defended their island home. You'll walk in their footsteps, during a 2 hour Horn Island tour, visiting gun emplacements, underground rooms and more. We stop at the Torres Strait Heritage Museum on Horn Island, which provides further insights – here you can read diaries and historic newspapers, see maps and learn more about the area's rich wartime history, local myths and legends and more. All of this is included in your 3 Day Strait Escape adventure.

Horn (Ngurupai) Island is also the point where we fly in and out of the Torres Strait, to and from Cairns. A local water taxi provides the short 10 minute transfer between Horn and Thursday Island, which is where you will be staying.

THURSDAY ISLAND – Cultural Centre, Performances & History

Thursday (Waiben) Island is the administrative hub for the Torres Strait and your 'base' for the 3 Day Strait Escape. You'll check into your accommodation at the Grand Hotel, which is located on the hillside adjacent to the jetty. The Grand Hotel has panoramic views over the island's clear blue waters, 31 rooms of accommodation and a café and bistro Malu Paru. All of the rooms have ensuite, tea and coffee making facilities, fans and air conditioning - 2 nights accommodation is included in your package, as well as all of your meals.

SPECIFIC CONDITIONS

- Minimum of 30 people are required for this trip to operate
- Bookings close 2 weeks prior to departure
- Full refund provided if minimum numbers are not met
- A credit will be issued should the trip need to be suspended due to COVID-19 related travel restrictions

2 Hour Thursday Island Tour

On Thursday Island, you'll traverse more of the cultural tapestry, military history, religious and commercial activity that is island life. An air-conditioned coach takes you around the island on a guided 2 hour tour, visiting key points of interest, which your local guide will illuminate through an interesting and informative commentary. Highlights include Green Hill Fort, which was constructed in the late 1800s to help protect Australia from a possible Russian invasion. Apart from its amazing views, over the surrounding seas and islands, the fortifications are impressive. Its underground rooms have 600mm thick concrete walls. They once housed ammunition and more, but today contain a gallery of military artefacts, spanning the last century.

Travelling around the island in comfort on the coach, you'll next visit the historic Thursday Island cemetery. Cemeteries reveal a lot about a community. Its history, significant events and ancient and current traditions. Your guide will talk to you about the early and highly dangerous pearling industry (more on this in the Friday Island section), which led to the development of the Japanese Cemetery. You'll also learn about the culturally important tombstone unveiling ceremonies, that are today an important part of Ailan Kastom (Island Custom).

FRIDAY ISLAND – Kazu Pearl Farm

You might not know the Torres Strait once had a massive pearl industry, which started in the late 1800s. While there were some local divers, the majority of pearl divers in the early days were Japanese. In fact, by the 1920s almost all of the pearl divers working around the Inner Islands were Japanese, and it was no easy task. The heavy helmets were cumbersome and the divers were reliant on those above, to pump the air down to them. It was dangerous and many lost their lives – so many, that they needed their own section at the Thursday Island cemetery. World War II largely put a halt to the pearl industry, but in the 1970s some cultured pearling operations began.

Traditional Islander Dance Performance & Feasting-style Lunch

Join your guide for a local feasting-style lunch buffet. As you slip into island time and enjoy the feast before you, a respected Torres Strait Islander dance group will showcase their vibrant culture with a 1-hour performance. The ceremonial dress and adornments are both striking and beautiful, while the power in their precision movements enlivens all you have seen regarding these proud, warrior-like people, on your two island tours.

Gab Titui Cultural Centre and Gallery

The landmark Gab Titui Cultural Centre and Gallery - is a contemporary art gallery and keeping place for cultural artefacts. Here, you'll expand your growing awareness of the rich tapestry of art, dance, rituals and performance that keeps language and traditional knowledge alive, in the Torres Strait. The incredibly detailed lino prints illustrate various aspects of island life and Ailan Kastom (Island Custom) and there's the opportunity to meet some celebrated local artists. Artworks are available for sale and apart from supporting the local community and culture, these works make a striking, contemporary addition to any décor, serving as a visual reminder of your time in the Torres Strait.

ISLAND ACCOMODATION

Grand Hotel, with views across the seas

Your 3 Day Strait Escape takes you straight to the Inner Islands of the Torres Strait and to its administrative hub, at Thursday Island. Your accommodation here is at Grand Hotel, which has 31 rooms and is located at 6 Victoria Parade. Its rooms are motel style, with combined bedroom and living space, they have ensuite and tea and coffee making facilities, as well as air conditioning and fans. Accommodation is safe and comfortable, but note it is of a different standard to city accommodation.

Kazu Pearl Farm is perhaps the last remaining active pearl farm from that time - and is a bucket list item for visitors to the Torres Strait. Kazu Pearl Farm started in the 1970s and is run today, by the same man who founded it all those years ago, Mr Kazu. As well as providing you with a delicious Japanese-style lunch, showcasing fresh local produce, including sushi, sashimi and tempura, with pickled vegetables, fresh fruit and accompaniments, you also get to see how cultured pearls are 'grown'. This is explained in a fascinating demonstration covering pearl cultivation, seeding and harvesting. There's also the opportunity to purchase a pearl, or piece of jewellery, which supports the island and provides you with a treasured reminder of your tropical adventure in the Torres Strait.
